

LEGAL DISCLOSURES

EFFECTIVE OCTOBER 8, 2026 | PUBLIC WEBSITE EDITION

Corporate identity Canaan Holdings LLC and any listed operating companies are distinct legal entities. Corporate relationships, states of formation, foreign registrations, and ownership must be confirmed against filed records and governing agreements before publication.

No investment advisory services by implication Neither this website nor its enterprise materials constitute an offer of securities, investment advice, or a promise of returns. Any regulated investment advisory services must be provided only by a properly registered or exempt entity under its own disclosures and client agreement.

NIL and athlete representation NIL and athlete-agent laws, collegiate rules, institutional policies, professional league rules, and state requirements differ and change. Athlete rights verification is not a guarantee of eligibility, sponsorship approval, or ownership. Representation services are subject to separate authorization and any required registration.

Legal, tax, and accounting services No attorney-client relationship is created by visiting the website. Legal and tax matters should be referred to appropriately licensed professionals. The business advisory scope must distinguish general strategic support from regulated attest, tax, legal, or investment services.

Referrals and affiliate compensation Affiliate recommendations may involve common ownership or financial incentives. Material referral compensation and conflicts will be disclosed when applicable, and client choice remains independent. Fee-only or fiduciary claims require a separate fact-specific regulatory review.

Forward-looking statements Plans, product launches, financial projections, prospective partnerships, and expansion targets are forward-looking and uncertain. They are not guarantees and should not be represented as current operational capabilities.

Testimonials, endorsements and trademarks Any testimonials, case studies, athlete images, university names, logos, or third-party marks require appropriate rights, permissions, and legally required disclosures. No university affiliation or endorsement is implied without express authorization.